THROW YOUR OWN BRAIN PARTY!

Whether you're in a classroom, library, or at home, a Brain Party is a fun way to celebrate how every person thinks, learns, and shines in their own way.

1. Decorate with Brains & Bright Colors

Hang colorful streamers, balloons, and brain-themed decorations. Create signs like “All Brains Welcome!”, “Every Brain Belongs”, or “Different Is Wonderful!” Let kids help decorate the space.

2. Make Something Creative

Invite attendees to create their own brain crown or fill out a “My Amazing Brain” poster highlighting their favorite activities, strengths, and interests.

3. Celebrate Every Strength

Go around the room and let each child share something they enjoy, something they're proud of, or a way they help others. Remind everyone that every person has different strengths—and that's something to celebrate!

4. Create a Welcoming Space

Offer different ways for children to participate—drawing, talking, writing, moving, or simply listening. A quiet corner with books, coloring pages, or fidgets can help everyone enjoy the celebration comfortably.

5. Host Storytime

Read All Brains Welcome and other books that celebrate different kids of brains.
